What can I solve for you?

I have a deep understanding of public agency regulations and policies, and a passion for the work. I provide practical guidance across a range of practice areas, including governance, business and facilities, and labor and employment. I look forward to taking on new challenges each day.

What's it like to work with me?

As a lawyer who understands the importance of compassion, clients appreciate my ability to approach their legal dilemmas with tact and sensitivity. I wholeheartedly embrace my clients' challenges as my own and provide dedicated support each step of the way. My goal is for my clients to always feel heard, supported, and confident in the fact that I am committed to serving their needs.

"Growing up across the States, school was my only constant, sometimes feeling more like a home than anywhere else. Now I work to ensure all students can have that same experience. I couldn't enjoy this practice more."

Overview

Jasmine provides guidance for a wide array of challenges school districts face. She assists clients with issues related to employee discipline, discrimination/harassment, contract disputes and negotiations, public records requests, and general advice and counsel.

Jasmine gained valuable experience representing school districts and cities at a public agency law firm in Los Angeles, providing support for labor and employment and transactional matters. She also second-chaired a trial and learned litigation essentials at a boutique commercial law firm in the Valley.

During law school, Jasmine was heavily involved in leadership, including serving as the President of the Student Bar Association. Jasmine received the Dean's Service Award for 2020-2021 for her active role advocating for and supporting students' rights. She also clerked in-house for an eCommerce company, where she first became familiar with labor and employment disputes.

Involvement

- Iranian American Bar Association, 2022-present

After School

I enjoy spending time at the beach, hiking, or doing anything outdoors. I also love traveling—specifically conversing with people from other cultures, experiencing local cuisines, and perusing grocery stores (they are fascinating in every country!). On the weekends, you will most likely find me hanging out with my cat, practicing cooking, reading psychology books, or enjoying live music.
